Brent Cross Town's first free LFA event is tonight - don't miss out

Barnet Council has teamed up with the London Festival of Architecture (LFA) this year to host events celebrating architecture in the borough. Some free events will be taking place at our very own Brent Cross Town.

The first LFA event at Brent Cross Town is tomorrow, which will be a discussion on the role of local public art, with an exclusive tour to the colourful electrical substation.

Doing our bit to taking care of our local environment

Over the past few weeks, along with partners of the Brent Cross Cricklewood regeneration programme, we have taken up tasks to improve the local area, from gardening projects to litter picking and painting.

If you know or see any part of the local area which needs extra care and could benefit from some project support, please contact transformingbx@barnet.gov.uk

In case you missed the Brent Cross West signage reveal

Last month external signs at Brent Cross West station were installed, a visible signal that London's newest mainline station will soon be operating.

The signage unveiling was joined by rail partners and councillors who shared their thoughts on the new station. We've also got our hands on drone footage of the station shot by Mace.
