Brent Cross West will open next month

Barnet Council has announced that London's newest mainline station, Brent Cross West, will be open from Sunday 10 December 2023.

Brent Cross West will sit between Cricklewood and Hendon stations on the Midland Main Line. Thameslink trains will connect central London to Brent Cross in as little as 12 minutes, with up to eight trains an hour at peak times. There will be direct connections to Luton Airport as well connecting to Elizabeth Line services via Farringdon station.

The station will also connect the areas of Brent and Barnet via a new overbridge, which will be free to access 24/7. A 150-year landmark, the overbridge will provide the first pedestrian access across this stretch of the Midland Main Line since it was first built in the 19th century.

The first trains will arrive on this day and we are arranging an official opening event in celebration. We hope you can join us in marking this significant moment for the borough. Keep an eye out for further details in the coming weeks.

Festive light switch on at Claremont Park

Join us for an evening of warming drinks, carol singing and live music as the seasonal lights are switched on at Claremont Park. The festive evening will include classic carols sung by children from our local schools, followed by a popular brass band.

There will also be free snacks and our much-loved local Gussy's Ice Cream parlour will be selling roasted chestnuts and hot drinks.
