Celebrating Brent Cross West - the newest station in your neighbourhood

On Sunday 10 December, the first station to open in London in over a decade, threw open its doors in Barnet. A big thank you to everyone who joined the official opening by Mayor of London Sadiq Khan, and London Assembly Member Anne Clarke, who also represents the Cricklewood Ward.

Over 5,000 people visited the station on opening day, including local residents, commuters, rail enthusiasts and team members from across the organisations that have been involved in the Brent Cross West station programme.

We want to thank all the businesses and partners who made the day more fun for everyone. Read more about the day here.
