Have your say on proposed plans for the South of Station area

Brent Cross Town invites you to share your views on proposals for an important phase of the development in an area to the south of Brent Cross West Station. These proposals would deliver three new residential buildings with a mix of housing types to support a diverse community, as well as garden areas and public play space.

Join us at the Visitor Pavilion on Sunday 17 May, from 12pm to 4pm for a consultation event where you can learn more about the plans and speak to the project team over some tea and cake. The exhibition materials will also be on display at the monthly residents drop in at the Visitor Pavilion on Thursday 21 May from 5.30pm to 6.30pm.

If you are unable to attend the sessions, you can view the online designs and take part in the consultation from now until Sunday 31 May here.

Help shape a new skate park

As part of the plans to improve Clitterhouse Playing Fields, Brent Cross Town is opening a brand-new all-wheels skate park for everyone to use and enjoy. To make sure the skate park reflects what local people like you want, we're inviting residents, skaters, families and young people to get involved in the design process. Whether you're an experienced skater, scooter rider, cyclist or simply interested in improving local spaces, we'd love to hear your ideas. The first workshop takes place on Monday 18 May, followed by a second one on Thursday 28 May.

Get involved

Social evening at Arthur's Coffee

Enjoy a relaxing night of charcuterie, wine, and music this Friday, 15 May from 6pm to 10pm at Arthur's Coffee House. This event takes place every month and brings people together in a relaxed, welcoming setting.

Whether you're alone or with a friend, why not meet new people, enjoy good food and start building something really special together at Arthur's.

Summer Community Newsletter

In case you didn't know, Brent Cross Town issues community newsletters on a quarterly basis which are door-dropped to local residents in the area and are made available online for anyone to read.

The newsletters cover updates on the latest events, activities, vacancies, opportunities and construction works happening in the area. This summer edition covers future activities taking place between now, through to August.

Whitefield Avenue and Claremont Way

Over the coming months, works are expected to begin on the next phase of development at Brent Cross Town, between the former Whitefield Estate and the Claremont Way area. This next stage will bring improved public spaces and new amenities for the community to enjoy. As part of these improvements, there a few changes planned, such as the Exploratory Park and the parade of shops permanently closing. Whitefield Avenue will also temporarily close for road improvements and to build a new temporary car park. More information can be found below.

Have your say on the CPZ

The wider Brent Cross Cricklewood Controlled Parking Zone (CPZ) has been operational since Monday 15 December 2025. We welcome your views on how you are finding the controls, as this will help shape the ongoing review and inform future decisions by the parking team. The consultation closes on Monday 15 June. To have your say, please email us at TransformingBX@barnet.gov.uk
